Overview of course:

In this course we will continue to develop beginning speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills--our point of departure being those skills acquired in Spanish 1101. These skills will be practiced daily in both class and group activities. Emphasis will be given to everyday communication situations and the format for evaluation will reflect this concentration. Students can expect to encounter a variety of activities that focus on cultural awareness. Homework and laboratory work are required daily.

Specific Course Goals	Textbook Timetable
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Recognize and use basic vocabulary, idiomatic expressions, and grammar. • Build written or verbal messages in Spanish that reflect class activities and the fundamental skills of communication that are introduced in class (speaking, writing, listening, and reading). • Use guessing/prediction strategies and grammatical forms in language production. • Recognize culturally relevant information and demeanor. • Return conversation in casual talks, classroom discussions, dialogues, group work and questions. 	7 → Repaso → 5 → 6 → 7

General Education Requirements and the General Education Portfolio.

Every Spanish course fulfills the General Education Distribution requirements for Group II “Languages and Literature”. In order to maintain this GE qualification, students in 100 or 200 language level courses may not take the course as “pass/fail”.

Effective September 2006, students are no longer required to submit General Education Portfolios.

Although portfolios collected from individual students are no longer the focus of the assessment process, the General Education goals have not changed and artifacts for General Education assessment may be gathered by your professor in this course. For instance, the most conspicuous artifacts that can be drawn from this language course fulfill the “communication” category of GE competencies; for instance, your professor may video taping the Final Oral Presentation. A composition that shows how a student is able to identify and cite reasons for his/her opinions may also be held as a Critical Thinking Artifact. Likewise, a homework assignment that shows how a student is able to correct his/her answers, methods or procedures may also be gathered. A “web-based” or “realia” assignment that includes a "real world" task or an assignment that is based on a role-playing scenario may be used as a Problem Solving artifact.

Quizzes, Midterm, Final Exam:

Students MUST take each quiz, Midterm, and Final Exam on the day scheduled for examination. If a student is absent from any quiz, Midterm, or Final Exam, then s/he will receive a zero (unless the student has made a prior arrangement with the professor). The Midterm Exam and Final Exam will be comprehensive and accumulative in content.

Students with a 93.1% or higher cumulative course grade (following the Final Listening Exam), will excused from taking the Final Exam (written portion).

The idea of “dropping of low exam or quiz scores” does NOT exist in this course.

Homework and Lab Activities:

It is the student’s responsibility to complete and maintain a record for each homework or lab activity assigned in class or electronically through the MySpanishLab site. Any homework assignment or lab activity should be submitted in a timely manner allowing the professor and students to track student progress and give/recieve feedback. Any assignment that is turned-in late will not count for homework credit. If you have problems using the electronic media, please consult with the instructor or lab assistant ASAP. Not knowing how to use the media or incorrectly registering the media will not be accepted as an excuse for late homework.

Oral Presentations:

Please, refer to the Oral Presentations Guide:

Part 1 (<http://faculty.mansfield.edu/wkeeth/Oral-Presentations.pdf>)

Part 2 (<http://faculty.mansfield.edu/wkeeth/Oral%20Exam-Guide%202-Spa1102.htm>)

Class Participation:

Each student can expect his/her class participation to be evaluated in accordance with the general guideline for “Class Participation” (<http://faculty.mansfield.edu/wkeeth/Class-Participation.htm>) and in accordance with the system of “Scoring Class Participation” (<http://faculty.mansfield.edu/wkeeth/Scoring%20Class%20Participation.htm>). Students will receive participation scores from their peers as well as the professor (60% professor, 40% peers).

All students are expected to attend every class. Any unexcused absence will result in a 15% reduction in the student’s final Participation grade at the end of the semester. Any partial absence (over 15 minutes) will result in a maximum score of 2.5 for the day.

Attendance:

All students are expected to attend class on a regular and punctual basis. Missing a class does not release a student from class obligations. Students should keep in touch with classmates and be sure to contact their professor in advance of any absence. If this is not possible, they must contact the professor no later than the first class period after the excused absence.

If a student has to miss a class due to documented illness or other excusable reason, the student must:

1. inform the professor as soon as possible and no later than the first class period after the excused absence;
2. provide the professor with a copy of the signed excuse from a physician, coach or other authority no later than the first class period after the excused absence (The original must be available for faculty review.);
3. arrange with the professor to make up missed graded assignments or exams as soon as possible.

In order to avoid prolonged delay of make-up of the work, the professor may, at his discretion, give the make-up work and hold it for grading until after the written excuse is received.

Any unexcused absence will result in a 15% reduction in the student’s Participation grade.

Electronic submission of written work is an effective way of handing in required written work by a specified deadline, especially when a student expects to be absent.

Suggested Method of Study:

- 1) Class Journal and Daily Review—Apart from completing homework assignments and attending class, students should keep a class journal (notes, diagrams, etc. related to Spanish, made both in and out of class). This journal should be reviewed (at length) following each class and briefly looked at prior to each class session. This activity allows one to pay closer attention to the material, raise questions in class sessions, and keep continually “fresh”—one of the most essential parts of learning a foreign language.

- 2) Establishing Priorities—Students should try to study the most difficult Spanish topics first and dedicate more time studying these areas later, especially prior to exams.
- 3) Avoiding Burnout—Students should always study in multiple, staggered, short blocks of time. Each block should be no more than an hour and should include 5 to 10 minute breaks. Integrating numerous small blocks of study time into the weekly schedule is empowering.
- 4) Consistency—Creating and sticking to a study schedule is very important. For many students, weekends represent more valuable moments of study. Reserve these moments for studying ahead and resolving any problematic areas of study.
- 5) Positively Influencing One's Horizon—Each student needs to periodically assess this course's requirements, his/her degree of success and failure, his/her expectations, and the direction of energies applied to this course. This helps to opportunely adjust study strategies or seek outside help, either with the professor or a tutor.

Conduct:

Academic honesty, the submission of original work, and student interaction is expected in this class. Any form of cheating may result in failure of the course. Additional information concerning academic honesty and the procedures your professor will use to initiate disciplinary action in cases of academic dishonesty can be found in The Mountie Manual (<http://reslife.mnsfld.edu/documents/MountieManual0708.pdf>).

The Syllabus:

This syllabus serves as a contractual agreement. Presence in this class means that you agree to the items stipulated in the syllabus and are aware of any modifications made throughout the semester. One should periodically check the course web site for any updates to the syllabus and/or class calendar.

Class records and Grades:

Oversee your grade by monitoring your progress and maintaining contact with your instructor. Any student material or record that has been returned to the student becomes the student's responsibility to maintain as a permanent record for the course. Students are responsible for picking up any materials that are made available to them or are returned in class. If a student loses these records and the professor does not have a copy of the material available, the student will receive a failing grade for the particular activity.

Students with “exceptionalities”:

Any students with documented psychological or learning disorders or other significant medical conditions that may affect their learning should contact Mr. William Chabala in our Counseling Center (<http://www.mansfield.edu/~counselng/>) [101 Hemlock Manor, Phone: 662-4695; mwchabala@mnsfld.edu]. Mr. Chabala will provide the professor with the appropriate letter and materials that will enable him to serve the student’s particular needs more effectively. If a student has an exceptionality that requires class or testing accommodations, Mr. Chabala will work with the student and the professor to identify and implement appropriate interventions.

Other:

If you are interested in studying abroad, please contact the Office of the Provost (<http://www.mansfield.edu/~academic/>) or Study Abroad advisor (<http://www.mansfield.edu/~international/>) for information about studying abroad and make an office visit with your professor so that he may address your questions or concerns more straightforwardly.
